Featured Presenters

Sabha Ganai, MD, PhD, MPH, FACS, FSSO
Sanford Health, Fargo

Dr. Sabha Ganai, MD, PhD, MPH, FACS, FSSO is a board-certified surgical oncologist with expertise in the multidisciplinary management of pancreas, hepatobiliary (liver, gallbladder, and bile ducts), and foregut (stomach and esophagus) tumors, thyroid and parathyroid disease, as well as retroperitoneal sarcomas and gastrointestinal stromal tumors at Sanford Health in Fargo. Sabha Ganai is facile in minimally-invasive surgery and was first to perform the HIPEC (hyperthermic intraperitoneal chemotherapy) procedure in Central and Southern Illinois. Her academic interests are focused on rural cancer disparities, health geographics, ethics, surgical education, and translational research examining the biology of metastasis.

Dr. Sabha Ganai is a rural disparities researcher and has been an active committee member for the Society for Surgery of the Alimentary Tract, Association for Academic Surgery, the American Society of Clinical Oncology, and the Society for Surgical Oncology. She seeks to provide compassionate care and serve the surgical needs of people with cancer in rural America.

Dr. Ganai is presenting the Commission on Cancer presentation entitled "The Opposite of Burnout."

Julie A. Dunn, MD, MS, FACS
Medical Director of Trauma Research
UCHealth North Medical Center of the Rockies

Dr. Julie Dunn is a Trauma and Acute Care Surgeon for UCHealth North at Medical Center of the Rockies in Loveland Colorado. She serves as the Medical Director of Trauma Research for the Northern Colorado Region. She is the American College of Surgeons Committee on Trauma Region 8 Chief (ND/SD/MT/WY/UT/CO). Prior to this she was Trauma State Chair for Colorado and State Chair for Tennessee.

She has an evolving interest in Trauma Immunology and has a faculty appointment at Colorado State University (CSU). In particular, she is interested in the immune signaling that occurs as a result of fat embolization after long bone fractures. She chairs the Industry Advisory Board for the School of Biomedical Engineering at CSU and serves as the Director for the Undergraduate Clinical Immersion Experience for Engineers.

Dr. Dunn is presenting the Committee on Trauma presentation entitled "Long Bone Injury and the Trauma Immune Response."
